

A WARRIOR AFTER GOD'S OWN HEART MEN'S BIBLE STUDY

Christian and warrior are not words often connected in today's world. A world when too many men have abdicated their responsibilities to God, their families, and those around them who don't know Christ.

But what if men were to hit their knees and cry out to God, asking him to forge in them the heart of a warrior. But not the heart of a warrior in the worldly sense of the word, but a warrior after God's own heart. I think it would spark a revival in the hearts of men that would lead a resurgence of godly courage, sacrifice, leadership and love in our church, city and community, of men that have:

- An unshakable confidence that comes from someone powerful inside, the King of Kings and Lord of Lords who has redeemed us and called us to be men who impact their world for Christ.
- A boldness to reject passivity, accept responsibility and lead courageously because our life is no longer our own, but belongs to the one who called us and set us apart for the sake of the gospel.
- A Willing to lay their life on the line for the sake of others because though we were lowly sinners, what great love and grace we have received in Christ.
- Driven by their duty and their obligation, with fierce loyalty to their commander, their fellow soldiers and their mission to take the gospel to all nations bringing glory to the only ONE who is worthy.

If you're not already connected in a men's discipleship group but ready to take the first step to connect and grow with other men. In the fall, we will be launching a new Men's Bible study called A Warrior after God's Own Heart.

Each week we will explore a different attribute of a Godly warrior and how to apply it to our lives to become men who IMPACT their world for Christ.
